Workshops that Work!

Bernice McCarthy's

4MAT® System

The 4MAT System is a cycle of instruction. Based on research in learning styles and right/left-mode preference, it not only teaches educators to honor different learning styles but, more importantly, teaches all learners muti-faceted modes of acquiring understanding.

Thousands of educators throughout the world have seen the effectiveness of the 4MAT model. This summer we bring 4MAT to you with two levels of workshops - one for newcomers, the other for those with prior experience, who wish to conduct district-level 4MAT training.

The Introduction and Implementation Seminar

July 8-10, 1987, Chicago, IL

Highlights:

* Complete overview of 4MAT
* Detailed study in learning styles
* Right/Left preference - What are the implications?
* Comprehensive lesson/unit designs

The Advanced Training Seminar

July 27-31, 1987, Wenham, MA

Graduates of the Advanced session will be eligible to conduct in-house 4MAT training.

Highlights:

* 4MAT and staff development
* The process of change
* See 4MAT in a classroom setting
